The policies and procedures of the Discipline Policy contained within the 2020/2021 Imani Parent-Student Handbook have been thoroughly discussed with my child/children and me.

The Imani classroom operates on a basic educational contract. The Mwalimu agrees to teach. The student agrees to learn. Both Student and Teacher will treat each other with mutual respect. Students are expected to practice total compliance. Simply stated, if a teacher tells a student to do something, the student is to comply immediately. If a student disagrees with the teacher's instruction, he or she is to comply anyway. Once a student has complied, he or she may request to speak with the teacher by stating: "Mwalimu, may I speak with you?" The teacher will then determine whether they can speak with the student at that time, or decline the student's request by stating: "I am happy to speak with you at a later time, but not at this time. "Any behavior that disrupts the learning environment will be addressed according to the Student Handbook.
